DEVELOPMENTS AT VALPARAISO

THE fifth dinner meeting of friends of Valparaiso University was held at the Hamilton Club Monday evening, May 26th.

Three other meetings are scheduled.

These meetings have been constructive in their results because they have been instructive and encouraging and uplifting in the character of reports which have come authoritatively from Valparaiso through Mr. Sampson, who is giving one year of his time there without compensation in order to help the University.

Chicago friends in doubt about the future of the University and who have not yet found it practicable to attend one of these meetings, owe it to themselves to attend one of the future meetings and learn at first hand the truth.

The situation is not so bad as reported.

In fact, it is not bad at all.

Another fact: the whole situation is being remedied with justice and satisfaction to all and without selfishness or disagreement or controversy. Representatives of all interests have met more than once lately and as a result agreement has been reached with respect to every phase of the indebtedness and ownership of the University. A public announcement will be made at an early date.

Everyone who attended Valparaiso University, whether for one term or one year or long enough to be graduated, holds a warm heart for the old school.

Right now it is becoming to say so. Too long we have been silent! True friends are not silent when true friends are in need of help!

The alumni of other schools are proud of their old schools. We of Valparaiso alumni are no less loyal and proud. But we have been less disposed to say so with boldness and pride and confidence.

Just why is this?

Who is better able to answer this important question than the individual former student who holds this little Chicago edition of Valparaiso Result in his hand at this moment and reads these lines?

Just what is your answer?

Will you come to the next dinner meeting at the Hamilton Club, on Monday evening, June 9th, at 6:30, and do yourself the justice to learn the facts at first hand? The dinner will cost you $1.50. No call will be made for an endowment. A call, however, will be made to enlist your help in the important plan now developing so successfully to double the student attendance at the University before the opening of the fall term.

HELP WORTH WHILE

One of the greatest helps which former students can render the University is to send more students there. This idea has met with universal approval and thousands of friends in Chicago and elsewhere are now actively co-operating. A fund has already been raised whereby 100,000 copies of the regular summer quarterly bulletin have been paid for by former students and mailed to prospective students. This is the same plan which the founders used so successfully years ago.

Later a special edition of Valparaiso Result, written with the purpose to interest prospective students, has been published and mailed to 100,000 names of prospective students and to every county superintendent of public instruction in the United States.

Results are coming in surprising volume.

New students are arriving every day.

Have we former students of Valparaiso University less reason to be proud of our old school than alumni of other educational institutions? Valparaiso University needs nothing but the help of its friends!

Will you, individually, show your pride and interest and loyalty by attending our dinner meeting Monday evening, June 9th, at 6:30 p. m. (sharp), at the Hamilton Club, 18 South Dearborn street? Will you mail your acceptance promptly, so we may know how many guests to arrange for at the club? Mail your acceptance to Stanley G. Swanberg, 7 South Dearborn street, Chicago.
